

Institute for Social Justice and Conflict Resolution

The Social Justice and Conflict Resolution Institute and the Syrian Center for Policy Research cordially invite you to the launch of SCPR report
Forced Dispersion

Syrian Human Status: The Demographic Report

2016

Friday, 9th December, 2016: 12PM to 3PM

Conference room 903, Omre Gray building, Lebanese American University (through Middle Gate)

The Forced Dispersion report diagnoses population status in Syria before and during the crisis by adopting participatory rights-based approach. The report re-estimates key pre crisis demographic indicators, which allows for different understanding of the population challenges. During the crisis, and based mainly on the Population Status Survey 2014, which was designed and implemented for this research. The report provides an in-depth analysis of the demographic status during the catastrophic crisis and the risk of its continuation, and sketches some future alternatives toward its ending and overcoming its impact.

Moderator:

Ziad Abd Alsamad: Executive director of The Arab NGO Network for Development

Opening notes:

Imad Salamey: Director of the Institute for Social Justice and Conflict Resolution at the Lebanese American University

Authors:

Rabie Nasser: Researcher at the Syrian Center for Policy Research

Zaki Mehchy: Researcher at the Syrian Center for Policy Research

Ali Rustom: Senior Statistician, former director of the population directorate of Central Bureau of Statistics, Syria.

Discussants: TBC

Open discussion

Note: Event will be in Arabic with simultaneous interpretation

info@scpr-syria.org <http://scpr-syria.org/>